WEEKLY MEMO

Date: November 27, 2017

From the Vice Principal:

Well done James Bay community School students and families! We were able to put together twenty four shoe boxes filled with loving gifts. This is more than we were anticipating! They will be delivered to a community in the north of our country and will help children experience joy this holiday season!

Funky Sock Friday: James Bay Community School has been challenged to a Funky Sock Face-off from other local schools. This means, on Friday December 1st, we are hoping to see as many students and staff wearing funky socks.

WEEKLY MEMO

Are you interested in strengthening emergency preparedness and connections between neighbours?

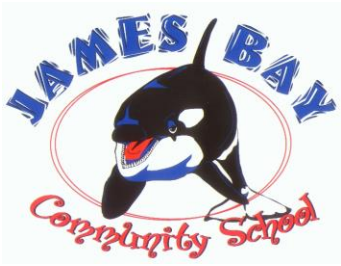

Become part of our unique pilot project!

Connect and Prepare

Call for Expressions of Interest

Together we are ready! We are looking for groups of neighbours living on the same street or in the same apartment/condominium building within the City of Victoria to be part of an exciting new pilot project called "Connect and Prepare". This project is being offered as part of a unique collaboration bringing together Building Resilient Neighbourhoods' Resilient Streets program and Victoria Ready. Through a series of facilitated workshops, and with the support of micro-grants, program materials, and resource people, you and your neighbours will:

- learn about different kinds of potential emergencies
- participate in fun gatherings for socializing and discussing preparedness
- do assessments of your own homes, then create a street directory and asset inventory to help improve your individual and collective safety
- explore opportunities to become more connected and mutually supportive
